Demos Weakened By Party Battles In Key Primaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic prospects in many of the nation's largest states are being threatened by potentially divisive primary battles as candidates try to take advantage of seeming Republican vulnerability.

Party leaders are concerned that hopes to make major gains in the wake of Watergate, including capturing the New York and California governorships, may fall victim to factionalism. Republican-held states in which Democratic primary fights for governor seem likely include New York, California, Connecticut, Michigan and Massachusetts.

As for Senate seats, Democratic hopes of swelling their current 58-42 majority could be hampered by primary battles in Florida, Ohio, Colorado, Utah and Pennsylvania.

In New York, Democrats have been counting on the alleged weakness of Gov. Malcolm Wilson, successor to Nelson A. Rockefeller, to recapture the state's government for the first time in 16 years.

But there are signs that Wilson may be stronger than expected, especially among organized labor, while the Democrats are headed for at least a three-way primary battle less than two months before the November election.

Though industrialist Howard J. Samuels is considered the Democratic front-runner, Reps. Ogden R. Reid, a former Republican with strong Jewish backing, and Hugh Carey, supported by some New York City organizations, believe Samuels is vulnerable.

In California, many Democrats still consider Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., the front-runner in the polls, a weak candidate running mainly on the name of his father, who was governor before the retiring Ronald Reagan.

As a result, the Democratic field still is large, including San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, Rep. Jerome Waldie and businessman William Roth.

Among the Republicans, Comptroller Houston I. Flournoy, a moderate, has emerged as the favorite over conservative Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke.

In Connecticut, Democrats are heading for their first gubernatorial primary. Their leading contenders are Rep. Ella T. Grasso and Atty. Gen. Robert Killian.

In Massachusetts, a primary between former state Rep. Michael Dukakis and Atty. Gen. Robert Quinn could damage chances of defeating Gov. Francis W. Sargent.

In Michigan, a primary battle could hurt Democratic hopes to oust GOP Gov. William G. Milliken.

As for Senate races, the most notable case of Democratic over-eagerness appears to be in Florida, where a half-dozen Democrats are seeking the seat of Republican Edward J. Gurney, whose former top aide has accused him of involvement in a kickback scandal. Gurney has denied it.

In Ohio, a May 7 rerun of the bitter 1970 primary between Howard Metzenbaum, now the state's appointed U.S. senator, and former astronaut John Glenn could hurt Democratic chances. The Republican candidate is Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk.

Oil Meeting Delayed By Libya, Algeria

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Anwar Sadat failed to get all the Arab oil ministers to a meeting in Cairo to consider his proposal to end their oil embargo against the United States.

Instead, Algeria and Libya, who want to continue the embargo, forced a delay in the meeting until Wednesday and insisted it be held in the Libyan capital of Tripoli.

Sadat's failure Sunday was considered a blow to his chances of getting the embargo lifted. The Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar said the holdouts had agreed to discuss Sadat's proposal in Tripoli. But some observers doubted the oil ministers would raise the issue, unless it had been resolved at a higher level.

After a week of conflicting announcements about the place and time for the meeting, six oil ministers — from Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi, Bahrain, Qatar and Egypt — were in Cairo Sunday. Algeria, Libya and Syria stayed away.

The six who came met for 90 minutes and announced they would go to Tripoli. An Egyptian spokesman said there had been no talk of the oil embargo.

A communique said Egypt had offered to host the meeting because of a shortage of accommodations in Tripoli due to an international fair. But it said Libya had managed to provide facilities for the meeting.

Sadat has championed an end to the ban in exchange for Secretary of State

Henry A. Kissinger's assistance in getting Israeli troops to withdraw from the Suez Canal. But Algeria, Libya and Syria are holding out for the pullback of Israeli troops facing the Syrians on the Golan Heights.

Tension remains high on that front. Syria claimed its gunners shot down an Israeli reconnaissance plane on Sunday and that it crashed near Hatem, in Jordan.

There was no confirmation from Israel. But the Israeli command said its bulldozers and demolition crews destroyed a section of the Quneitra-Damascus road on the Heights to blunt the Syrian offensive that Israel charged last week was planned. The road is on the eastern perimeter of the bulge captured by Israel in the October war, the Israelis said.

In Jerusalem, Premier Golda Meir introduced her new cabinet to the Knesset, the Israeli parliament, and warned that there still could be trouble on the Golan Heights. "I cannot assure you that we are confident that the Syrian government has abandoned its preparations for an offensive," she said.

The Knesset approved the new coalition government 62 to 46 after 10 hours of bitter debate about the government's handling of the October war. Leaders of the opposition Likud bloc also attacked Mrs. Meir and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan for vowing not to stay in office and then reversing themselves on the strength of the alleged Syrian threat.

Watergate Report Decision Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge is expected to decide this week whether a sealed grand jury report on the Watergate cover-up should go to the House impeachment inquiry.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica received innocent pleas Saturday from the seven men indicted March 1 by the grand jury. That left disposition of the report the next major development expected in the case.

Mrs. Nixon Starts Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pat Nixon returns to Caracas, Venezuela, today on a good will mission to a country where she and President Nixon were spat upon and threatened by angry mobs 16 years ago.

There will be tight security for the First Lady's three-day stay in Caracas, but a friendly welcome is anticipated. And Mrs. Nixon has no fears about returning, according to her press secretary, Helen Smith.

The First Lady heads a U.S. delegation to Venezuela for the inauguration of its new president, Carlos Andres Perez, who won a landslide election victory in December.

A presidential jet will pick Mrs. Nixon up in Florida, where she relaxed over the weekend. Nixon was to be on hand to see her off at noon EDT from Homestead Air Force Base there.

After Venezuela, she will fly to Brazil for the inauguration Friday of its new president, retired Army Gen. Ernesto Geisel.

President Nixon said he was sending his wife to the inaugurations as evidence of his "continued interest in promoting close and cooperative relations with the nations of Latin America and the Caribbean."

The Nixons visited Caracas in 1958 during a vice presidential tour of South America. Venezuela, the last stop on their trip, had just emerged from 10 years of dictatorship under Perez Jimenez. Anti-American sentiment was high because Jimenez had been given asylum in the United States.

Weather

Cloudy with light rain likely this afternoon. High, upper 40s. Occasional rain tonight, low near 40. Variable cloudiness and cool with a chance of showers Tuesday. High, low 40s. Probability of precipitation, 60 per cent today, 90 per cent tonight and 50 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures were: Sunday, high, 49; low, 34; Saturday, high, 77; low, 43.

At a hearing lasting six minutes, innocent pleas were entered by former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell; former White House aides H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, Charles W. Colson and Gordon C. Strachan; former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian, and Kenneth W. Parkinson, former Nixon campaign finance committee lawyer.

Ehrlichman and Colson also pleaded innocent to charges stemming from the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

When the grand jury returned the indictments in the Watergate cover-up case, it also handed Sirica a sealed report and satchel of evidence, which sources later said dealt with President

Nixon's role in Watergate.

James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, told the hearing the White House would take no position on what Sirica should do with the report. However, in a letter filed with the court, St. Clair asked for permission to review the report if Sirica decides to send it to the House Judiciary Committee.

It was at Wednesday's hearing on the report that St. Clair also announced Nixon's decision to give the impeachment inquiry all the evidence he already had given special prosecutor Leon Jaworski and also to answer written questions and submit to an interview by ranking committee members.

Meanwhile, the senior Republican on the House committee, Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, said he questions whether the committee is getting full cooperation from the White House.

He and committee member Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., were interviewed Sunday on ABC television's "Issues and Answers." Both predicted that if the White House does not give the committee six tape recordings it is seeking the committee will subpoena the tapes.

Also interviewed Sunday, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said on the CBS television and radio program "Face the Nation" that Republicans might be better off if Nixon resigned. He said there was a growing feeling in the party that ... (Vice President) Jerry Ford would be less controversial.

Percy also said that continued White House refusal to turn over all Watergate material sought by Jaworski or the House committee "could well be" an impeachable offense, and "failure to produce evidence if Jaworski got a court order ... would be an impeachable offense."

Coal Miners Still Off Jobs In Dispute

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Miners in four southern West Virginia counties affirmed Sunday that they would stay off the job, virtually assuring continuation of a strike that has idled an estimated 20,000 men.

The meetings followed decisions by a few miners at scattered United Mine Workers locals to report to work today. The work stoppage, which enters its third week, has crippled production of metallurgical coal for the nation's industry and steel mills.

The dissident miners are protesting a state ban on selling gasoline to motorists whose fuel gauges register more than a quarter of a tank.

A meeting Sunday afternoon at Drawdy Falls in Boone County drew more than 1,000 UMW District 17 miners who voted overwhelmingly not to go back to work until Gov. Arch A. Moore recinds the quarter-tank limitation.

Japanese Straggler Finally Gives Up

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Hiroo Onoda, a World War II Japanese army officer who hid in the Philippine jungles for 29 years, presented his sword in surrender to President Ferdinand E. Marcos today.

In a televised ceremony at the presidential palace, Marcos gave the 52-year-old Japanese a full presidential pardon "for any claims or responsibilities during the war" and in the years since. The president told Onoda he was welcome to stay in the country.

However, plans were being made to fly Onoda to Tokyo Tuesday for a medical checkup.

Marcos also returned the sword to Onoda, who wore his old Imperial Army uniform.

Marcos put his arms around the wiry Japanese and said he admired him for his bravery and courage.

Onoda, facing television cameras for the first time in his life, said: "From now on, I will try my best to contribute to the development of my country and the closer cooperation of the Philippines and Japan."

Woman Found Dead East Of Chillicothe

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — A woman's body was found Sunday in a ditch in Tar Hollow State Park about 20 miles east of Chillicothe, Ross County sheriff's deputies said.

The woman was identified as Ruth Arledge, 50, of Kingston. Sheriff's deputies refused to reveal the cause of death, and said an autopsy was being performed.

Hearst Tape Claims Suppression By FBI

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Patricia Hearst says in the latest tape recording released by her kidnapers that "it's the FBI who wants to murder me." Her abductors charged the FBI with suppressing their communications.

The tape, received by a Berkeley, Calif., radio station Sunday night, was a duplicate of a recording received Saturday from Miss Hearst and the Symbionese Liberation Army, which claims it has held her since the newspaper heiress was kidnapped five weeks ago. But the tape was clearer and contained a new message from the SLA.

The tapes were the first communication from the kidnapers in 17 days.

Miss Hearst's mother, Catherine, said, "I know that while Patty is captive that she'll have to mutter all the words that are dictated by her captors." Miss Hearst, 20, is the daughter of Randolph A. Hearst, editor and president of the San Francisco Examiner.

Sunday's tape included the SLA charge that, "The FBI intercepted and suppressed" one of two tapes it put out Saturday. It said the FBI "thought the first one was the only one sent out," said a woman who described herself as being from an SLA information intelligence unit. She said the FBI was fooled by "a double-decoy system."

Sunday night's tape was addressed to KPFA-FM, Berkeley, where a woman telephoned that the new tape could be found in the fifth row of a San Francisco theater.

The FBI said it would not comment on the tape at least until Monday morning.

In the tapes, Miss Hearst says she had the feeling she had "been written off." She said "I don't believe you're doing everything you can, everything in your power. I don't believe you're doing anything at all."

In other kidnapping developments over the weekend:

—The wife of a Decatur, Ga., K-Mart store manager was released unharmed after her husband paid about $20,000 in ransom from the office safe. It was the fourth similar incident since Christmas involving K-Mart employees in three states.

—In Hackensack, N.J., authorities continued their search for additional suspects in the kidnapping of 8-year-old John Calzadilla and their attempts to locate the $50,000 ransom paid for his release. Five persons have been arrested. The boy was released unharmed early last Friday.

In Sunday's recording, a woman said the SLA sent tapes to radio stations KDIA in Oakland and KSN in San Francisco. KSN released its tape, but KDIA said it did not receive a copy.

"Either KDIA, without telling the public or the Hearst family, turned it over to the FBI, who in turn suppressed it, keeping it from the Hearst family, or the FBI intercepted it before KDIA got it and suppressed it from getting to the Hearst family and the public," the women said.

The latest tape was received by radio station KPFA in Berkeley.

Patricia Hearst called a $2 million food distribution plan for the poor and paid for by her father and the William Randolph Hearst Foundation "a real disaster." The SLA originally demanded $70 worth of food for every poor person in California.

Miss Hearst's father said "we were glad to hear her voice and to know that Patty's alive. But we'll be have to study it before we make any reply."

Preceding Miss Hearst's voice on the tape was one of an SLA member who identified herself as General Genina.

"The prayers of the police state agency are to see to it that Patricia Hearst is killed and then use her death to further rally middle America in support of the Nixon-represented corporate dictatorship and against all revolutionary forces," she said.

In New Jersey, the fifth arrest in the Calzadilla case was made late Saturday when FBI agents took into custody Maria Margaret Marida, 17, at her home at Jersey City. Four teen-aged youths are also being held in the case.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jonathan L. Goldstein said the young woman would be arraigned today before U.S. Magistrate Bruce F. Banta, charged with conspiring to violate federal kidnapping statutes.

Goldstein said there were still other suspects in the kidnapping.

In Decatur, Ga., authorities were searching for the kidnapers of Patricia Daniel, 30, who was abducted Saturday by three men who demanded and got about $20,000 from her husband, William. Mrs. Daniel was found unharmed.

The previous three such incidents involving K-Mart store employees occurred in different states, two in Michigan and one in Tennessee. In one, the kidnapped wife escaped, in another a man was arrested and in the third the kidnapers escaped with $91,000.

ENTERS PLEA—John D. Ehrlichman, former top domestic adviser to President Nixon arrives at U.S. District Court in Washington. He pled not guilty to charges stemming from his alleged involvement in the Watergate affair.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was close to even today, recovering from some early losses.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 1.17 at 876.88, after a drop of better than 8 points in the first half hour of trading. Gainers trailed losers by about 7 to 5 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the initial declines had reflected disappointment among investors that a meeting of Arab oil ministers slated for Sunday in Cairo had fallen through, producing no evident progress toward an end to the Arab oil embargo. As prices turned upward, Jack Trachtman at Steiner, Rouse & Co. noted, "I think the market is recognizing that the embargo is going to come off — it's just a question of when."

Walt Disney Productions, the Big Board volume leader, was down 7/8 at 51. Among other stocks with a direct stake in oil supplies, Howard Johnson was off 1/4 at 11 1/4, and Ponderosa System slipped 1/4 to 31 3/8.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .04 to 99.20.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks was down .09 at 52.29.

The Amex volume leader was Financial General Bankshares, down 1/8 at 9 in trading that included a 43,900-share block at that price.

Brad Jones Places At State DECA Contests

Brad Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jones, 206 Cedar Heights Road and a Circleville High School senior, won fourth place (honorable mention) award at the Ohio State DECA Contests which were held during this past weekend at the Columbus Sheraton Hotel.

His contest participation was in the area of Parliamentary Law, in which 52 of the top people from the 26 Districts in Ohio were competing.

DECA — Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Circleville High School DECA coordinator, and Brad Jones, a fourth place winner at the state DECA contests, hold the award he was presented.

Brad now has earned the right to represent Ohio at the National DECA Leadership Conference in Chicago from April 28 to May 1 where all 50 states of the United States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico will be represented by DECA members and their coordinators.

Circleville Senior DECA also received a Chapter Membership Award for their 100 per cent student involvement, increased occupational competencies, personal growth and leadership development.

Circleville High School was represented at the March 8 and 9 Conference by Debbie Snyder, Ruth Garner, Becky Dountz, Cathy Arledge, Cindy Corne, Bill Salyers, John Clifton, Tony Betts, and Brad Jones who are all members of the Circleville DECA II chapter.

Circleville Junior DECA I chapter was represented by Sharon Snyder, Anita Stevens, Beth Blaney and David Rossiter, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Rossiter, 952 South Pickaway Street. Dave is employed by the Kroger Company with Keith Reeves supervising his work-study program.

The students were accompanied by their coordinators, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood and William G. Rosengarten, who treated their students to meals in the hotel dining room that were not covered by the conference registration.

District 26 received one other award for which we at Circleville are very proud. Terri Brewer, a member of the Chillicothe Chapter, won second place award in the Income Tax Contest. This award earned by Terri is the first one Chillicothe has won during the last nine years. Terri will be representing Ohio with her coordinator, John Fuller, at the National DECA Conference.

Mrs. Greenwood and Mr. Fuller were also given assignments by the State DECA Department to assist in the administering of the Public Speaking contest which took the entire day (8:30 to 4:40) Saturday. The Awards Banquet and Program was scheduled to start at 7:30, Saturday evening and did not conclude until approximately 11:15.

Ohio Energy Plan Compromise Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A special committee of senators and representatives resumes deliberations Tuesday night on energy legislation aimed at avoiding "governmental bureaucracy."

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, chairman, said the panel will discuss a proposed energy board that would consist of the governor, two legislators, a representative of the energy industry, and a public citizen.

"We're going to try to have some kind of a bill within the next week or so," Maloney said.

However, he indicated the committee wants to hear first from an official of the Federal Energy Office.

Arrangements have been made, he said, for Michael Scanlon, director of intergovernmental relations of the FEO, and another representative of that office to meet with the committee Tuesday, March 19.

"The energy problem is so interstate in nature that we think we should be briefed on federal policy so that what we might do will not be in conflict," the senator said.

The joint committee, which actually consists of a subcommittee of the Senate Ways & Means Committee and another subcommittee of the House Select Committee on Energy, agreed tentatively on the make up of the energy board at its first meeting last Tuesday.

It represents a compromise between agencies envisioned in Gov. John J. Gilligan's emergency energy bill and a Republican alternative introduced by the Senate leadership.

Maloney said the compromise "overcomes the very serious problem that members on both sides of the aisle had with the governor's bill and the Republican bill. It was felt they vested too much power in an appointive agency."

Maloney said the governor's bill, which calls for a seven-member board appointed by Gilligan, "would create a vast new energy bureaucracy that we'd never get rid of. That's what we are trying to avoid."

The pending proposal would have the governor appoint a member from the energy industry and the public member, both subject to approval of the Republican-controlled Senate. A member from each house, named by their respective leaders, would complete the board. The legislators would represent the different political parties.

Jury Returns 5 Verdicts In Civil Case

A jury of eight returned five different verdicts after deliberating 2 1/2 hours on a civil case in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. Testimony in the case lasted for ten days and over 100 exhibits were introduced into evidence.

The original case stemmed from the failure of Reynolds Metals to pay the Lathrop Company for the roofing of the building in Ashville. The Lathrop Company then in turn failed to pay the sub-contractor and plaintiff in the case, Brown and Kerr Company of Chicago.

A counterclaim was instituted from the defendant, Reynolds Metals, who claimed the roof was defective and the roofer had failed to maintain the original contract. The roof in question covers 6 1/2 acres of area.

The jury returned verdicts for the original amounts of the first suit, granting $247,692 to the defendant, the Lathrop Company, and $87,678.15 to the same company for the payment of the sub-contract owed Brown and Kerr. Other verdicts were: one for the plaintiff, Brown and Kerr Inc., against the defendant, Reynolds Metals; one for the plaintiff, Brown and Kerr against the Lathrop Company. Only two of the verdicts stipulated a sum to be paid.

Teacher Wins 'Spoon River Anthology' Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal judge here has ruled a teacher did not violate her students' constitutional rights when she snipped three poems from Edgar Lee Master's classic "Spoon River Anthology."

Students have no constitutional right to receive information which a teacher might choose not to give them, said U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph P. Kinneary. The 11-page ruling was issued in a suit filed in 1972 by a Hilliard High School ninth grader against the Scioto-Darby School Board and several school officials.

In the suit, compiled by the Ohio chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, Daniel A. Kramer complained that the teacher, Mary R. Meyer, removed three poems from the book before it was distributed to about 200 students.

Nixon Tax Fraud Probe Said Started

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine says President Nixon's 1969 income tax return is the subject of a criminal fraud investigation by the Internal Revenue Service.

Quoting unnamed sources, the magazine said that "in recent weeks, the IRS special intelligence agents, who only do criminal investigations, have interviewed Edward L. Morgan, a one-time White House aide; Arthur B. Blech, Nixon's personal accountant, and Frank DeMarco, the President's former tax lawyer."

"The key question is whether a fraudulent deed to Mr. Nixon's vice presidential papers was drawn up in the spring of 1970 to make it appear he had actually given the papers to the archives one year earlier — before congressional legislation outlawed deductions for such gifts," Newsweek said.

The President claimed a $576,000 deduction for donating the papers to the national archives.

The magazine said DeMarco has testified "he had a new deed typed up and had Morgan sign it on the President's behalf in April 1970, but he insists that the new version was only a copy of an original he drew up the year before."

The 1969 document has not been produced, however, Newsweek said.

IRS spokesmen have refused to comment on the inquiry and the White House says it has not been notified of a criminal investigation of the President, the magazine said. Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler is quoted saying the problem "goes to the preparation of the documents, not to any action of the President."

More Gasoline Made Available In Most States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest federal gasoline allocations should provide about 6 per cent more gasoline daily in March than was available last month before emergency allocations were ordered.

According to this month's figures, announced last Thursday by the Federal Energy Office, all but five states are getting larger daily gasoline allocations in March than in February. However, those five states all have unusually high supplies already, a detailed study of the FEO figures indicates.

The allocation system generally is guiding larger per-day gasoline increases toward states whose supplies otherwise would be relatively poor, with smaller daily increases going to states whose supplies are close to average.

The FEO said in issuing the March allocations that all states were slated to receive increases in their total gasoline supply for the month, compared with February.

However, consideration of average daily supply is important because March is three days longer than February, and gasoline demand continues each day, no matter how long the month is.

In other energy-related developments: —The Central Intelligence Agency tried last year to assess prospective oil sources abroad but found it difficult, according to secret testimony made public Sunday.

Then CIA Director Richard Helms told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Feb. 7, 1973, that obtaining oil company information about prospective prices and supplies "is one of the hardest jobs we have."

Car Destroyed In Early Morning Fire

A car owned by Sue Brigner, 144 Rosewood Ave., was completely destroyed at 6:45 a.m. today. The Circleville Fire Department dispatched at the call of Monty Brigner who reported the car was on fire. The 1968 Plymouth was sitting along the street when a short in the electrical wiring under the dash caused the flame. Firemen estimated the damage to be $800.

The State Highway Patrol reported a grass fire along Route 23 at 5 p.m. Sunday. Firemen thought the fire was caused from a burning rug which was probably thrown from a passing vehicle. There was no damage reported.

Kidnaping Plot Broken Up In L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three persons, including a former follower of the Charles Manson family and a convicted skyjacker, have been charged in an alleged plot to kidnap a foreign consul general.

The FBI said it planned to file a 22-page affidavit with a U.S. magistrate detailing an attempt to kidnap a consul general from one of eight foreign nations to bargain for the release of a convicted airline hijacker and another jailed man.

Jailed pending arraignment today on a federal warrant charging conspiracy to kidnap was Maria Theresa Alonzo, 22, a former follower of Manson. Manson was convicted in the cult killing of actress Sharon Tate.

Also charged in the conspiracy case were Garrett Brock Trapnell, 36, the convicted skyjacker, already jailed; and Robert Bernard Hedberg Jr., 37, already jailed on charges of unlawful flight and assaulting a policeman.

The FBI said it broke up the plot Saturday afternoon with the arrest of Miss Alonzo at a Hollywood apartment. Sheriff's officers said her forehead still bore an "X," the symbol used by followers of Manson who performed a vigil outside the courthouse during his murder trial.

Trapnell and Hedberg were in the Los Angeles County Jail at the time of Miss Alonzo's arrest.

FBI spokesman John Barron said agents first learned of the kidnap attempt "through the cooperation of an individual who was to act as a coconspirator in the plot."

He said the alleged conspirators planned to kidnap the consul general from one of the following nations: Estonia, Paraguay, Uruguay, Canada, France, Germany, Switzerland or Haiti.

New Look For Ethiopia Hurt By Tendency To Act Slowly

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — A two-week upheaval has given the Ethiopians the tools to transform their feudal state into a modern democracy, if they want to.

But despite major gains by the reformers, many observers question whether Emperor Haile Selassie's kingdom is ready to shake off the traditions that have built up over 2,500 years.

"These reformist tendencies have a way of dying," one longtime Western resident said. "Ethiopians prefer gradual change, and that means slow."

About 120,000 workers were returning to their jobs today after a four-day general strike that demonstrated the strength of organized labor for the first time in the country.

The unions won from government negotiations promises of a minimum wage, the right to strike for public utility employees, nationwide price controls and abolition for poor children of $2.50-a-term school fees.

The 82-year-old emperor told officials of the Confederation of Ethiopian Labor Unions he was pleased with the peaceful settlement. International flights into Addis Ababa resumed, and a quick return to normal was expected in the ports, on the railroads and in basic industries.

Premier Endalkachew Makonnen's pledges of quick legislative action to accomplish the labor reform apparently closed out the crisis that also included a military mutiny for higher pay and a government cleanup.

The mutinous soldiers became an effective force for social change. A government that represented the interests of the aristocratic, land-owning clique was replaced by a cabinet of younger, skilled moderates. The military leadership also was purged. The emperor was pressured into promising constitutional amendments that could severely limit his own powers.

"The Ethiopians have what they need to complete a transfer of power to the people. It will take time to see whether they mean to do it," said one Western diplomat. "At this stage, it could go either way."

Set Hearing Into Strike

EVARTS, Ky. (AP) — A citizens inquiry into the strike at Eastover Mining Co.'s Brookside mine was scheduled to start here today at the site of the 1931 Battle of Evarts.

The inquiry is patterned after the hearings held by author Theodore Dreiser and a group of writers on the bloody struggle to organize Harlan County some 40 years ago. The Battle of Evarts was a gun fight between coal company guards and union coal miners in which five men were killed and several wounded.

The citizens panel, chaired by Dan Pollitt, University of North Carolina law professor, planned to take testimony from miners, union organizers and company officials for two full days and then publish a report of its findings.

Among the topics will be the history of the nine-month-old effort to organize the Eastover mine — seen as a key to organizing the East Kentucky coal fields. Eastover is a subsidiary of the Duke Power Co., the nation's sixth-largest public utility, based in Charlotte, N.C.

The Brookside mine has been shut down since last July over the company's refusal to accept a contract with the United Mine Workers.

Privacy Invaders

Privacy is very important to most persons, but it seldom receives much recognition until it is violated. Much about the latter half of the twentieth century seems to be working against the right to privacy.

Computer data banks have multiplied almost like rabbits. Government reports and questionnaires fill central repositories with every conceivable part of a person's life — in some instances including data on medical treatments and credit studies.

An employment application goes into a file which may be cross-indexed into another file. Law enforcement records of all kinds exist in thousands of files across the nation and may be duplicated in such central banks as the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Records of an individual's income are not limited to tax returns filed with the IRS. In fact, IRS files are not limited to official federal use, but are available to various state officials on request.

Many of these files are needed legitimately by a highly complex society with a large and varied population. But the duplication, the expansion and the almost limitless possibilities for distributing, accumulating and dispensing information of a private nature on any citizen requires far better regulation than it now has.

Easing Retirement

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — In the days following his indictment, former Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, President Nixon's prime fund raiser, took a crash course in retirement, the joys and sorrows of being turned out to pasture. It was given by an expert from the Menninger think-tank.

Come what may, the man who raised (some say demanded) tens of millions of dollars for the President's reelection campaign is now better fitted to face the retirement years than most men of his years. Retirement, and how best to cope with it, is perhaps the most neglected social condition confronting the nation today. To equip one's self for that wrenching change of lifestyle should call for schools for people approaching senior citizenship. Instead, by and large, the aging worker who is about to be snipped off the payroll is more often given a watch or a suitcase. That's sugar-coated cruelty. The watch's sweep-hand reminds him that he's dying, second by second. The suitcase beckons him to move some place in the alien corn.

Years ago, the Hearst Task Force of reporters, returning to their Moscow hotel in the dead of a wintry night, noticed a platoon of elderly women, bundled and booted against the frigid blasts, busily chopping ice off the streets and pavements. One of the reporters said something to the effect of, "Oh, how sad! Those old dames, working like that at this time of night..."

The bright young man from Intourist, the guide of the Task Force, had a ready answer to that.

"That's the trouble with you Americans," he said. "When your people grow old you push them into retirement homes, if you can afford them, or sit them in a chair in the corner. In that case, they no longer have any authority in the house, even though they might have built it. They have nothing to say about the running of the house."

"These old ladies working on the ice are paid a wage, just as everybody else is. Their wages enable them to maintain their positions in their households. They are equals, not to be ignored."

It sounded harsh, but is the system essentially harsher than that which abounds in the U.S.?

There are efforts being made to lessen "retirement shock" here, of course, though the priority is low on the scale, nationally. A first class effort is that of joint crusade by the Scovill Manufacturing Company of Waterbury, Conn., and Local 1604 of the United Auto Workers. More than 2,000 employees of this diversified manufacturer have completed the eight two-hour sessions conducted once a week for eight weeks.

The curriculum, devised by Prof. Woodrow W. Hunter of the University of Michigan's Gerontology Department, covers a great range of pitfalls the about-to-be-retired workers can expect. For examples:

Those who plan to live with their children after retirement are encouraged, instead, to build a separate life for themselves.

Couples planning to pull up stakes and move to Florida, Arizona and other enticing retirement areas are reminded that they must first thoroughly inspect their intended havens before embarking on a drastic new lifestyle.

The Scovill-UAW classes teach the retirees-to-be to be on the alert about real estate agents and corporations that promise a golden retirement consisting mainly of milk, honey and golf without tears.

There are courses in diets, how to make a will, how to draw up a workable budget on a pension and

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

By DIERRE DONNELLY

NEW YORK (AP) — The traveling salesman in the United States has seen his income crimped by shrinking commission rates, rising travel costs and shortages of products to sell.

Now there's the problem with gasoline. And whatever its future, it's forcing new changes on salesmen, and some say they could be driven off the road if it continues.

Nick Adams, a traveling sales representative for several auto parts makers, was stranded in Granville, Wash., for two days when service stations ran out of gas. Now he makes fewer trips and asks customers to guarantee him a tank of gas for the return trip.

Mike Gale, who sells for costume jewelry firms, has cut some working days in half to find enough gasoline on the Connecticut Turnpike for his return to New York City.

The National Council of Salesmen's Organizations represents some 70,000 of the nation's 250,000 independent traveling sales representatives—those who live entirely by commissions on whatever sales they can drum up. The gasoline shortage, it says, is the most critical, immediate problem ever to face such salesmen.

"It's a lot more than an inconvenience," says Gale. "It's an economic loss."

"If we don't see customers, we don't sell merchandise. If this continues through the summer when a lot more gas is used for vacations and weekend traveling, I think a lot of traveling salesmen will begin thinking about leaving the business."

Some independent salesmen already have lost their jobs as small companies find that telephoning customers sometimes can accomplish almost as much as selling face to face. Costs as well as fuel problems are factors.

"It's about as efficient as traveling right now, and it cuts down overhead since we don't have commissions to pay," says a spokesman for American Gypsum Co., a small gypsum board maker in Albuquerque, N.M., which halved its sales force and doubled its phoning.

The national salesmen's group estimates the average cost of a salesman's visit was about $50 in 1971. It cost about $60 last year and has gone up eight to 10 per cent since last fall.

Commission rates, meanwhile, have drifted down. The American Management Association says that, on industrial goods, the rate slipped from 7.5 per cent in 1967 to 7.4 per cent last year. On consumer goods, it went from 6.9 per cent to 5.7 per cent.

The salesmen's group estimates the average salesman uses 4,000 gallons of gasoline a year, driving 40,000 miles and averaging 10 miles a gallon between city and country driving. At 20 cents more a gallon—less of a hike than some New York salesmen say they're paying—that's $800 more a year in gas bills.

Some License Tags Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Registrar C. Donald Curry of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles says the agency will meet the March 16 deadline for delivering 1974 license plates to deputies in the state's northernmost counties.

But the promise didn't satisfy some of the deputy registrars who had not received their shipments of tags by Friday.

"Sure, they may get me the plates by March 16," said one, who asked not to be identified, "but it takes a couple of days to sort them, take an inventory and get ready to put them on sale."

Shipments were being awaited in Lorain, Ottawa, Sandusky, Seneca, Wyandot, Wood and portions of Lucas and Hancock counties.

"The plates are being shipped out as fast as we can get them from the manufacturer," Curry said.

The Struck Co. of Freeport, Ill., is making all of Ohio's 5.5 million sets of auto tags and is shipping them to Columbus at a rate of 65,000 a day, Curry said.

Trucks were being loaded Friday with shipments for nine counties, including Defiance, Hancock and Erie. Brian Bolton, assistant to Curry, said other counties without plates should receive them sometime next week.

Prevention Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan, noting that 5,000 Ohioans are treated each year for poisoning, has proclaimed the week of March 17-23 as Poison Prevention Week in the state.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

After 12 years of marriage, my husband and I have decided on a trial separation.

The possibility of an eventual divorce is great. We live in a small community where no psychological help is available for our two children, 7 and 4 years of age.

Do you have any basic suggestions that will help preserve the emotional security of our children?

Mrs. T. J., W. Va.

Dear Mrs. J.:

You are not so far removed from a large hospital that some psychological guidance cannot be obtained.

For others who may be, there are some basic broad principles which may be constructive.

It must unfortunately be mentioned that some people, with less understanding than you obviously have, will use their children as pawns and manipulate them in such a way that they will absorb the hostility and anger of that parent.

To do this is immature, unkind, and not worthy of the responsibility of parenthood.

Children of all ages have a remarkable capacity to understand when the truth is presented to them. It is imperative that they be assured and reassured that any temporary or permanent separation does not mean that they are being abandoned or no longer loved.

Children must be impressed with the fact that they themselves were in no way responsible for the separation. They are easily filled with guilt and can falsely believe that their own behavior was responsible for one parent leaving the home. They may feel this although they do not always express it. Such hidden emotions can leave a marked impact on the physical and emotional health of the child.

They must be urged to express their reaction to a new life-style pattern with one parent. They have a right to express anger and disappointment if they feel that they are being deprived of one parent.

Don't impose on your children the burden of "taking sides" in any given situation. They should understand that no matter what the difficulties are between parents, each parent will continue to love them and protect them.

A Funny Guy

By JIM BISHOP

Some men go to Las Vegas hoping someday to own the town. Shecky Greene went to Vegas knowing that the town would own him. He was born Shmoyale Greenfield on 15th Street in Chicago. He grew up big and fat and aggressive, the type who starts rock fights with gentle kids.

Greene is funny in a stream-of-consciousness manner. One night he put his arm around Vic Damone, after a great performance by the singer, and said, "Isn't he the greatest? He's the only guy in the world who can't buy a monogrammed shirt."

In World War II, the fat man with the loose lip served aboard the aircraft carrier Bon Homme Richard. In battle, he manned the soda fountain. Kamikaze planes were screaming in from all sides, and Shecky was yelling, "With the chocolate ice cream you want sprinkles too?"

He has been married twice, but not to nice Jewish girls. The first was an Indian. On the wedding night Shecky hopped into bed. His bride began a wild dance. "What's that?" he said. "I am driving away the evil spirits," she said.

"By God," Shecky said, "she did." The second wife is a Hawaiian. He has two children and loves them, but he is opposed to childbirth. "I never had a baby, understand," he says perspiring. "But I think it's like pulling your upper lip over your head."

Sad things happen to this man. Once, at a Miami Beach hotel, he drank a little extra. The star dialed a number and got a busy signal. In his state, he thought it was so unfair that he yanked the phone out of the wall, smashed the mirrors and tried to toss the furniture out the window.

In the morning, he apologized. The management apologized for deducting $2,000 from his salary.

He loves Frank Sinatra and says funny things about him: "Who's afraid of Sinatra? Not me. Tonight I walked in his dressing room without knocking. He wasn't there, but his ring was, so I genuflected and kissed it."

Sometimes the Prince of Lights laughs. Sometimes Sinatra stops laughing to recap Shecky's teeth. Someday somebody will recap his tongue. He says what he thinks. And what he thinks is not always pretty. He is, to coin a phrase, astutely acerbic.

If there is a mannerism which can be described as over-honesty, Shecky Greene is afflicted. When he broke up his marriage with his Indian wife, Shecky said, "I didn't want to divorce her. I wanted her to die." Another thing which hurts is being on the road and seldom seeing his children. "They call me Uncle-Daddy," he says.

The thing which pains him most is to hear people say, "Shecky who?" Long ago, a woman approached and said, "Listen Shickey, Shakey, Shikey or whatever your name is, can I have your autograph?" Greene said, "Okay leedy, lidey, loady, lady, where will you have it?"

He gave permission to have a race horse named after him. The nag became a first-class stakes winner. Everybody knows Shecky Greene the horse. But who knows Shecky Greene the unhorsed?

And yet, like Joe E. Lewis, Shecky Greene the biped likes to bet at tracks. In fact, when he married that Cherokee Indian, he found that, according to Indian custom, he was obliged to give her old man two horses. "So," says Shecky, "I gave him Kelso in the seventh and Carry Back in the eighth."

The first time he played Vegas, the management held Shecky over for 12 weeks because they couldn't afford to let him go. He achieved the impossible: how to lose $14,000 a week gambling. Every week. Nervous people are nailbiters. Shecky walks through a suite of rooms tearing up mutual tickets.

Some say that big stars like Shecky drink all the time. This isn't true. He drinks only when he's awake. It's always the same—Scotch on glass. There are men who can drink. Others try. Mr. Greene's operational credo is that if five drinks make a man feel good, 10 will make him feel twice as good.

The ratio doesn't work out. Ten makes a fat man sweat, adorns his kisser with a silly grin, unfocuses his eyes and unscrews his mind. That's when he dials numbers until he gets a busy signal.

In the morning, instead of furniture, he is surprised to find 7,800,000 toothpicks. "I haven't got a temper," he says solemnly. "I'm just what you call stubborn."

Shecky has a great and lonely talent. The man is in a class by himself. Life's cruelties become his best jokes...

Gangland Figure Out Of Prison

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Underworld figure Salvatore "Bill" Bonanno, 41, has been released from federal prison after serving 39 months.

Bonanno, son of Joseph "Joe Bananas" Bonanno, retired head of a New York Mafia family, had been sentenced to five years on charges of conspiracy, perjury, mail fraud and concealing ownership of his Long Island house.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Lost Interest In Sex

DEAR ABBY: Joe is 33. I am 30. This is the second time around for both of us. We've been married for four months, which is when all our trouble started. We lived together for a year first, and it was heavenly. There was never a problem about his ability to satisfy me, but now that we're married he has absolutely no interest in me sexually. Joe says when I was his girl friend making love was exciting but now that I'm his wife-nothing. (I can't understand that statement.)

I have suggested counseling, but he refuses. I think about him all day, and when he comes home I'm turned on by the sight of him, but he doesn't respond. I am ready to climb the walls.

I am an attractive woman and I'm meticulous about my grooming, and I can't understand his total indifference. I was better off when we just lived together. What do you recommend?

LEGAL IS LOUSY

DEAR LEGAL: I am NOT going to recommend that you divorce your husband in order to turn him on again. His inability to become aroused sexually now that you are legally wed indicates that for sex to be "exciting" to Joe, it must be forbidden. (There are men who can perform only with women they consider to be inferior or low-down; wives are "nice" women like their mothers and sisters, and therefore not for sex) Too bad Joe refuses counseling. He needs to change his attitudes about sex and love. And counseling is the answer.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been invited to a house-warming party. The wife is a fanatic about people smoking in her home, and has stated on the invitation that guests who wish to smoke will have to go out on the patio!

Demos Unite On Child Abuse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Democrats who bolted the majority ranks on the administration's child abuse bill probably will return to the fold when the measure makes its next floor appearance.

"There were about 18 of them who needed to be talked to," said freshman Rep. Thomas M. Bell, D-10 Cleveland, chief sponsor of the legislation.

His bill went back to the House Judiciary Committee Feb. 25 after some Democrats joined Republicans in support of a floor amendment that would take out a provision dealing with emotional abuse of children.

Bell said he didn't want the bill with the amendment.

Dissident Democrats and Republicans objected to emotional abuse because, they said, prosecutors never would be able to obtain a conviction on such a vague charge.

temperatures from dropping much below the mid 30s to around 40.

Tuesday, there will be a chance of showers south and flurries north with highs in the upper 30s and 40s.

Rep. Richard Finan, R-19 Cincinnati, who offered the amendment, said that as the bill originally stood it gave authority to social workers to go into court with suspected cases of emotional abuse.

"I suspect that 95 per cent of the teen-agers in this state think at one time or another that they have been emotionally abused," Finan said.

Rep. Joseph P. Tulley, R-59 Mentor, a former prosecutor, said, "It's hard enough to prove a case of physical abuse. With this you couldn't even use a picture as evidence."

"They miss the point," replied Bell. "I would never expect to get a conviction on emotional abuse. The point is, in many cases, emotional abuse precedes the actual physical abuse."

"This bill would work to head off the physical abuse. That's why we're sending the bill back to the floor in its original form."

Bell figures he will have sufficient votes, although he lost nearly a third of the House's 58 Democrats the last time.

"This is an administration bill," he said. "We're going to have a caucus."

Among other changes of the law the bill would make, it would require all Ohioans to report cases of child abuse to local welfare agencies rather than putting that onus just on doctors, nurses, dentists and other professional medical people.

The bill makes citizens turning in reports immune from any civil or criminal liability growing out of such actions.

A six degree turndown. The Federal Energy Office has requested that we set our home heat thermostats six degrees lower than last winter. This will save natural gas and money.

But more than that, such gas conservation is needed to help provide natural gas for industry this winter and so avoid unemployment and business closings. In many cases, gas is the essential energy source for industrial users; without it production stops and employment suffers.

That's why it's so vital to conserve natural gas in your home.

You can conserve gas by keeping your thermostat set six degrees lower. Also seal off places where warm air can escape by caulking around windows and applying weatherstripping and adequate attic insulation. In short, treat natural gas like a precious natural resource. Because that's what it is.

MRS. EDWARD GORDON CRITES

Miss Barbara Ann Pfalzgraf Bride Of Edward G. Crites

The wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Pfalzgraf and Mr. Edward Gordon Crites took place 2:30 p.m. Feb. 17, at St. Paul Lutheran Church. The Rev. Harry Strauch officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pfalzgraf, Route 1, Clarington, Ohio. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jean Crites, Route 2, Ashville and the late Mr. H. M. Crites.

Miss Marjorie Pickering, organist and Mrs. David Dill, vocalist, presented a program of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected for her wedding an ivory floor length gown trimmed with pearls and beads at the high neckline, empire bodice and wrists of the long fitted sleeves. The A-line skirt flowed gracefully to a chapel train and a caplet of matching material trimmed in pearls and beads held the bride's bouffant elbow length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

Mrs. Paul Dahlquist was matron of honor and Miss Kristine Dahlquist was flower girl.

Mr. Allen Dahlquist of Groveport, served as best man and Mr. Paul Dahlquist of Marysville and Mr. Ted Giese of Amanda were ushers. Master Andrew Dahlquist carried the rings to the altar.

A reception in the social rooms of the church immediately followed the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Crites and Miss Evelyn Goon. For a wedding trip to Florida the bride wore a brown dress topped with a beige jacket. The couple now resides in Ashville.

The bride is a graduate of the Ohio State University and is employed as a dental hygienist.

The bridegroom graduated from Central High School in Columbus and is engaged in farming.

"A DELICIOUS DIVISION OF VAN-ORR FOODS"

Monday Club Program Title 'From Canal To Astrodome'

"Gliding From The Old Canal Into The Astrodome" the topic Mary Kay May presented to Monday Club, called to mind the slow and relaxed pace of living during the canal era. Gliding on the canal is said to be restful, interesting, and exciting. Accounts of such travel differ.

Former President John Quincy Adams, in describing his Ohio Canal journey of three nights and four days, from Cleveland to Columbus remarked, "So much humanity crowded into the canal boat was a trial such as I have never experienced."

His remarks are well taken as his journey was in a canal boat 83 feet long, 15 feet wide and carried about 25 passengers. The boat is divided into six compartments: the first in the bow with two settee beds for the ladies, separated by a curtain from a parlor bed-chamber with an iron stove in the center and side settees on which four slept, feet to feet; then a bulging stable for 4 horses, and a narrow passage with a side settee for one passenger to sleep on, leading to the kitchen and cooking apparatus, with sleeping room for cook, steward and crew and necessary convenience. The stoves made the rooms uncomfortably warm.

Now the Astrodome of Houston, Texas, has a $4.5 million air-conditioning apparatus for the ultimate in comfort all year round. When 7,000,000 fans view everything from major league sports to bull fights in plush opera-type seats with the temperature 72 degrees humidity 50 per cent and field condition always dry, this type of comfort would be a welcome experience.

Deviating from transportation and the marvel of the air conditioned Astrodome Miss May turned the attention to restless young women and young men in the sports arena. Calling attention the old myths and new attitudes in women's sports and the crisis in college sports.

Early in this century there was widespread participation by girls in competitive sports. Then in 1923 a national committee of women headed by Mrs. Herbert Hoover was shocked to find girls in athletic costumes performing before crowds that included men, and should be stopped. With the findings of such prestigious committee, state after state followed the advice and either abolished all girls' sports or made them so genteel as to be almost unrecognizable as athletic contests.

America invests a billion dollars a year in athletic programs with the conviction that games are good for people, developing sound minds and bodies. But the female half of the population has never gotten a run for the money.

The arguments for maintaining the status quo are that (1) athletics are physically bad for women; competition may change their appearance and effect their sexual behavior. (Recent research suggests these hazards are imaginary) (2) Women do not play sports well enough to deserve athletic equality; (The purpose of sport is educational — to develop character, attitude, and good citizenship — it is not important whether one wins or loses but how one plays the game) (3) Girls are not really interested in sports. (When good girls' athletic programs are offered, the organizers are astonished by the response. For example, the Tampa, Fla. Recreational Department had regional and state championship events, similar to those which boys have had for years.

While the co-ed physical education programs appear to be moving ahead smoothly, the move to merge boys and girls varsity sports is causing more problems. Varsity coaches all over the state have cast a nervous eye on a recent ruling by a U. S. Court of Appeals in Michigan that bans sex discrimination in a variety of sports. The Ohio High School Athletic Association has sent a letter to all its member high schools informing them that the ruling applies to Ohio and that girls should not be excluded from non contact varsity sport.

Miss May quoted OSU President Harold Enarson, "The goal of winning has become close to obsessive." Also adding that "an unhealthy kind of interaction was developing between communities and teams. Sportsmanship has become submerged in an atmosphere of emotional super-stimulation."

In closing Miss May stated after reading about the high cost of training athletes and sports as a big business, "I know that our ancestors would find it unbelievable. We have come a long way from a nice Sunday walk with the family or a ride on the canal to watching major league games on television."

Pickaway Senior Center Members Visit Plant

Thursday was a busy day for 35 members of the Pickaway Senior Center who gathered at the Center at 10 a.m. After re-grouping into full car loads, they arrived at the USS Chemicals Plant at Corwin and Clinton St. There they were met by Byron W. Rose, production engineer and E. Wayne Miller, plant manager.

In the company conference room everyone enjoyed coffee and doughnuts and then Mr. Miller briefed the group on what to expect during the tour. The plant produces plastic products by the injection molding method, manufacturing many parts for automobiles and furniture, as well as parts of cases for television sets, washing machines etc.

The Circleville plant has the distinction of being the largest single producer of exterior plastic shutters in the United States. Mr. Miller explained that the Circleville plant of USS Chemicals is only one of many. The guests were each given souvenirs to take home including attractively decorated plastic glasses.

After dividing into smaller groups of six, each with a tour guide, they saw the entire operation from the bins where the granulated plastic is stored then sucked up by vacuum tubes into the huge machines where it is heated to a liquid state, injected under tremendous pressure into the molds, and then removed, trimmed, inspected, spray painted, cooled and packaged.

Mr. Miller had told them earlier that they employed about 250 local people in the plant. Everyone on the tour expressed their gratitude for being allowed to take the tour and appreciated particularly the contribution to our local economy being made by the company.

Next on the agenda was lunch at a restaurant, shopping in a nearby shopping center and then most of the group spent the balance of the afternoon visiting and singing with the patients at Circleville Manor Nursing Home.

Those enjoying the day's activities were: Ethel Lane, Nora Noise, Isabella Badger, Eloise Fee, Grace Streitenberger, Jennie Hoffman, Dagmar Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Shriver, Alton Stonerock, Adella Huffman.

Martha Hitler, Mr. and Mrs. Mark DeLong, Eva Heffelfinger, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Dunkle, Frances Davis, Eunice Shy, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Smith, Gladden Troutman, Mary Howard, Minnie Strawser, Golda Paxton.

Grace DeLong, Randolph Wolfe, Pauline Jones, Ethel Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. John Miranda, Ellen DeLong, staff members, Jennie Eccard, Vera Saunders and Twyla Lorentz. Ray Beery also came to the nursing home to play the piano for the group to sing.

This visit to Circleville Manor is a twice monthly event, on the first and third Thursday afternoon of each month at 2 p.m. Anyone is welcome to join them. A weekly visit is made to Pickaway Manor, on Friday afternoons at 1:30 p.m.

Jr. Women's Club Entertained By Reading Group

The March meeting of Circleville Junior Women's club was held in the home of Mrs. John Farthing, 558 N. Pickaway St. The meeting was opened with the introduction of members of the Roundtown Reading Group: Mrs. MaryAnn Ratermann, Mrs. Helen Plum and Mrs. Marilyn Springer. The group presented a program on humorous readings consisting of husbands, income tax, creeping underwear and marital double-talk.

Mrs. John Farthing opened the business session with the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Jean Holycross, chaplain, read "Desiderata" by Max Ehrmann. Jean Holycross announced there will be an orientation for new members at the April meeting.

Correspondence was read from the creative living board of trustees concerning Legislation Day on March 19 in Portsmouth and the OFWC Convention in Toledo on April 23-24. Four girls are planning to attend convention. Judy Jones reported that Husband's Night will be the 3rd Sunday in May, from 8-11 at Circle D Lanes.

Diane Jenkins was appointed international affairs chairman. A nominating committee consisting of Marge Sealock, Connie Sherman, Sally Tomerson, and Joyce Geis will prepare a slate of officers for the April meeting.

Following adjournment refreshments were served by co-hostesses Marge Sealock and Leslie Ryan.

The next meeting will be held on April 4 in the home of Mrs. Melvin Erlich, Juhl Road. The topic for the evening will be "International Affairs."

Everyone had a nice trip and enjoyed the beautiful weather.

School Lunch Participants Near 25 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) - Almost 25 million children are taking part in the National School Lunch Program, the Agriculture Department says.

In a preliminary report Friday on federal-state food programs, the department also said that about 15 million persons received either food stamps or food from the USDA distribution program in January, the same number as in January 1973 but an increase of 400,000 over December.

For the school lunch program, participation has risen since January 1973 by 100,000 children, with 9.2 million of the total receiving their meals free or at reduced prices. Under the program, USDA reimburses local school districts at set rates for each meal with additional payments for each free or reduced-price meal provided youngsters from lower-income families.

The number of persons receiving food stamps jumped to a new peak of 13 million persons in January, a spokesman said, representing a level 400,000 above December and 600,000 above the year before.

Bertie Musselman, formerly of Derby, now of Clark's Lake, took seasons high in her league when she rolled a 243 scratch and 575 series scratch recently at Stardust Lanes.

Mrs. Dee Hall of Clark's Lake is recovering from surgery in Mt. Carmel hospital. Also on the sick list is Mrs. Shirley Puckett with a bout of the flu.

The Southwestern Church of the Nazarene will start a new adult class for those between ages 19 and 30 next Sunday. This class "Pairs and Spares" will be taught by the Rev. Chenault.

Ladies Bible study is held each Tuesday morning at 10:30 a.m.

Men in Missions Prayer Fellowship is held Saturdays at 8 a.m.

Ticket Sale Tale Denied

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)- James D. Nolan, Democratic candidate for Governor, said Sunday that Gov. John J. Gilligan should stop the sale of fund raising tickets to the state's employees.

Nolan said that two Department of Transportation employees brought him envelopes from the Ohioans for Gilligan Dinner soliciting their purchase of $100 tickets.

Nolan said the practice may be a violation of federal and state laws. Eugene P. O'Grady, Gilligan's campaign manager, denied the accusation.

"We checked our computer mailing list against the state personnel department's records and removed all state employees we could find from the list," O'Grady said.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

In legislative action this week the House Judiciary Committee voted down a proposed constitutional amendment which would have banned the possession and sale of handguns in Ohio. However, the committee overwhelmingly passed out a measure aimed directly at the sale and possession of handguns referred to as "Saturday night specials." These handguns are relatively cheap and of poor quality and would seem to serve no other purpose than to be used in a crime.

Those handguns which would be outlawed by the bill would melt at 800 degrees Fahrenheit, and either have a retail price of $25 or less, a barrel of three inches or less, and use ammunition of .32 caliber or less.

For example, a gun with a four inch barrel would not be banned even if it would melt at 800 degrees.

Exempt from the bill are guns currently in possession of Ohioans and guns using percussion caps or black powder or used as trophies or antiques.

Penalty for possession of a "Saturday night special" would be up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

In other committee action this week the Senate Judiciary Committee voted unanimously to approve legislation regulating abortions performed in Ohio. A more restrictive form of the bill passed the House last year.

The abortion legislation is necessary because of a 1973 United States Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion and, thus, striking down Ohio's regulations prohibiting abortion in most cases.

The Senate measure provides for abortions to be performed by licensed physicians only. It prohibits courts or public agencies the right to order abortions.

The measure affirms the House concept of the right to life of infants who are removed alive during an abortion. Failure to take medical steps to preserve the life of such an infant would constitute a felony.

The bill, as approved by the committee, recognizes abortions as legal under most conditions, provided a woman and her doctor agree.

It permits hospital personnel the right to refuse to participate in an abortion on the grounds of conscience. It also allows a private or public hospital to refuse to perform any abortions.

Unlike the House bill, the Senate bill would permit a woman to obtain an abortion in the second or third trimester of her pregnancy.

The committee-passed bill is expected to reach the Senate floor soon and then must come to the House for further consideration.

More Ohio Motorists may be able to turn right on red lights, if a House passed bill becomes law. Current law allows motorists to turn right on red when there is a green arrow signal or when a sign is posted allowing the turn. The House bill would allow the right turn after stopping for a red light but it also would require that the driver to yield the right of way to pedestrians and other traffic using the intersection. Local authorities could place restrictions on this measure by passing ordinances prohibiting the right turn at specified intersections where a prohibiting sign is placed.

There currently is a joint effort of the House and Senate to formulate the tools which will be needed to combat the energy crisis. Sub-committees from both houses are meeting jointly in order to adopt agreed upon measures. Emphasis is not only on current needs, but on ways we might prevent recurring problems here in Ohio.

The work is slow due to a lack of direction from the federal government setting forth guidelines individual states should follow.

Vo-Ed Cash Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A total of $26.9 million for construction of vocational education facilities in the state was to be approved today by the Ohio Board of Education.

State School Supt. Martin W. Essex said, "This state support, matched with locally-voted funds, will provide vocational education services for an additional 12,760 young Ohioans."

"This is an amazing success story which offers great promise for the future of the economy and the employability in our state."

Essex said the board will consider 19 projects for new buildings or additions involving $20.9 million in state funds recently released by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

He said the board will also review requests to approve $6.9 million for vocational construction for Belmont Technical College in St. Clairsville and Toledo City Schools. He added that this money will come from other sources.

Hog Production Being Held Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — High feed costs are holding back hog production and the outlook for the near future does not call for much improvement, say Agriculture Department economists.

One indicator is the price relationship with corn, measured by a hog-corn ratio. Officials said Wednesday the preliminary ratio for February was 13.7 computed on the basis of Omaha prices.

The figure represents the bushels of corn equal in value to 100 pounds of live weight hog sold on the market. A higher number means farmers have a better chance for profits.

According to USDA records, the 13.7 reading for February was the lowest since 1971 when hog prices were depressed mainly because of large output. The ratio in January, 1971, for example, was 11.0.

A report on the livestock and meat situation this week by the Department's Economic Research Service said that normally hog producers are encouraged to expand production when the ratio averages over 20 for a sustained period. That was not the case, however, in 1972 when the annual average was 20.6 or in 1973 when it averaged an even 20 on the basis of Omaha prices.

Economists say there has been too much uncertainty the past couple of years for producers to make necessary commitments and investments for expanding hog programs. Also, at least among many Corn Belt farmers, feed grain prices had been so high that it has been more profitable to sell corn for cash.

The report also said there has been an attrition among hog farmers. As of Dec. 1, 1973, there were 752,020 hog farms in the country, down 5 per cent from a year earlier. Iowa continued as the leading state with about 86,000 units, down from 89,000 the year before.

"Strengthening live hog markets and lower feed prices may develop into a major expansion program late this year, but substantially larger slaughter supplies are not likely before 1975," the report said.

2 Young Brothers Die In Apartment Fire

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Two young brothers died in a fire Sunday which swept through a three-story apartment-business building in which they lived.

Firemen said Michael Cottrill, 2, and his brother, Jeremy, a month old, were found in their beds when emergency squads searched the building.

Their parents tried to rescue the children after alerting the 20 other residents of the building. The fire apparently began when a space heater exploded, officials said.

Damage was estimated at $70,000.

Top Cagers Win, Eye Playoffs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
UCLA and North Carolina State, yes. Maryland, no.
The answers were affirmative for UCLA and North Carolina State after big victories Saturday night — they are going to the NCAA's postseason basketball playoffs.

Maryland, on the other hand, suffered not only a loss but also wounded pride and decided against a bid from the National Invitation Tournament.

The resilient Bruins rode into the NCAA tournament with a resounding 82-52 victory over Southern California for the Pacific-8 title.

North Carolina State earned a berth by defeating Maryland 103-100 in an overtime thriller for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

Apparently overcome by the emotional letdown, Maryland snubbed the NIT and decided to stay home. The jilted NIT quickly invited Maryland's ACC colleague, North Carolina, and Memphis State of the Missouri Valley Conference and Purdue of the Big Ten to complete its 16-team field.

The entrance of UCLA and North Carolina State almost completed the picture of the NCAA playoffs, which opened Saturday with a swarm of first-round games from New York to Pocatello, Idaho.

Indiana, which beat Purdue 80-79 Saturday, and Michigan, a 103-87 winner over Michigan State, tied for the Big Ten title and will play tonight at Illinois for an NCAA berth.

Nine teams survived the NCAA's first-round playoffs Saturday.

In the East Regionals, Providence beat Ivy League champion Penn 84-69, Pitt trimmed Middle Atlantic Conference winner St. Joseph's, Pa., 54-42, and Southern Conference champion Furman upset South Carolina 75-67.

In the Midwest, Notre Dame crushed Ohio Valley Conference champion Austin Peay 108-66 and Marquette walloped MidAmerican Conference king Ohio University 85-59.

In the West, Oral Roberts turned back Syracuse 86-82 in overtime and Creighton topped Southwestern Conference winner Texas 77-61.

In the West, Dayton stopped Pacific Coast Athletic Association representative Los Angeles State 88-80 and Western Athletic Conference winner New Mexico beat Idaho State 73-65.

The results set up the following pairings for the regional semifinals Thursday:

In the East: Pitt vs. Furman and Providence vs. North Carolina State.
In the Midwest: Notre Dame vs. the Big Ten champion and Marquette vs. Southeastern Conference winner Vanderbilt.

In the Midwest: Oral Roberts vs. Louisville, the Missouri Valley Conference winner, and Big Eight champion Kansas vs. Creighton.

In the West: New Mexico vs. San Francisco, the champion of the West Coast Conference, and UCLA vs. Dayton. North Carolina State's victory was the most exciting and UCLA's surprisingly easy romp the most unexpected over the weekend.

Playing as if battling for the national championship, top-ranked North Carolina State and No. 4 Maryland took the ACC race down to the last, bitter seconds.

"It was one of the greatest college basketball games ever played," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan.

After Len Elmore's basket tied the score 97-97, Maryland had a chance to win it in regulation time. The Terps could do no better than a desperate, 25-foot miss by John Lucas.

The ACC teams carried the battle into a tinging overtime period that was settled in the last six seconds when Monte Towe delivered the game's final points with two free throws. Tom Burleson had 38 points for the Wolf-pack and was acclaimed the tourney's most valuable player.

UCLA and Southern Cal were tied with 11-2 records before Saturday night's meeting on the Trojans' court, but there was no question afterward which was the better team.

The Bruins, ranked No. 3 and the defending national champions, had a 47-13 lead at the half behind Bill Walton's exploits and coasted in the second half.

"It was one of Bill's better efforts," said a bland John Wooden, the UCLA coach who has watched Walton lead two of his record nine national championships.

Walton finished with 26 points and 20 rebounds — most of them in the first half when the Bruins simply tore up the Trojans.

Celtics Rip L.A. Lakers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers couldn't run and couldn't rebound ... and as a result, couldn't win Sunday.

"We lost our running game and we lost our boards," said Coach Bill Sharman after his Lakers were stopped cold, 94-82 by the Boston Celtics.

The Celtics were simply more aggressive in the National Basketball Association game. That was the difference, pointed out Sharman.

At the same time, the Celtics were taking good shots. Dave Cowens, for instance, scored a game-high 24 points.

In the other NBA games Sunday, the Capital Bullets trimmed the Golden State Warriors 117-107; the Philadelphia 76ers nipped the New York Knicks 109-108; the Detroit Pistons turned back the Atlanta Hawks 116-111; the Houston Rockets beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 113-108 and the Buffalo Braves defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 122-112.

Along with Cowens, John Havlicek was a Celtic standout. Boston trailed by 14 points in the second half and later by 10 in the third before making a comeback. Havlicek contributed 14 points, including some crucial ones late in the game.

Gail Goodrich was the Lakers' leading scorer with 19 points while Connie Hawkins contributed 18.

Buddy Allin Wins Doral Open Golf

MIAMI (AP) — "It was an unexpected pleasure," Buddy Allin said. "I was just trying to hang in there and make a good check. I didn't think I had any chance of winning. There were just too many good players up there and I was just trying to hang on."

But, one by one, some of pro golf's great players fell victim to the waters, woods and woes that make up the 7,065-yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club, and the tough little Allin emerged as the winner of the Doral-Eastern Open Sunday.

Allin, who won numerous decorations as an artillery officer in Vietnam, had a final round 67 and his 272 total was 16-under-par and a record for the course that gobbled up the challenges of Tom Weiskopf, Jerry Heard, Australian Bruce Devlin and Bobby Nichols.

Heard, a winner a week ago, finished second with a 68-273. He lost his last chance for victory when he sliced his drive into the gallery on the 18th fairway, hit a woman spectator in the head and bogeyed the hole.

Devlin, tied for the lead a couple of times in the scramble down the stretch, fell back with a bogey from a bunker on the 17th, had a 71 and tied for third with countryman Bruce Crampton at 274. Crampton made a par-saving putt on the 18th hole for a 68.

Next came Bert Yancey, who closed with a 65, and Weiskopf tied at 275. Weiskopf, tied for the lead as late as the 16th hole of the final round, finished bogey-double bogey and had a 72. He drove into the woods on the 17th and put one in the water on the 18th.

Tom Kite, whose 29 on the front side marked the best nine holes of the year on the pro tour, had a 65 and tied Nichols at 276. Nichols had a 70 with a double bogey six on the 16th that killed his chances.

Lee Trevino, who scored his last victory in this tournament a year ago, closed with a 69 but was too far back to catch up. His 277 total was two strokes better than Jack Nicklaus, who had a 70.

The victory was Allin's third in his four years on the pro tour and was worth $30,000 from the total purse of $150,000.

Regional Basketball Playoffs Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Defending state champions Cincinnati Elder and Marion Pleasant have reached the regional tournament stage of the 1974 postseason single elimination playoffs.

There are only 16 teams left in each of the three divisions, heading toward the state tournament March 21-23 at Ohio State University.

Cincinnati Elder, which won the 1973 Class AAA title, will carry a 19-3 record against unbeaten Kettering Alter in the Dayton regional Wednesday night.

Marion Pleasant, winner of the state football and basketball crowns during the 1972-73 school year has joined the Dayton Class A regional. The Spartans, 19-3, will face New Albany in a regional semifinal Thursday night.

Columbus Ready, the Class AA state champion the last two years, was ousted by Columbus Hartley Friday night in Columbus district play.

Two of The Associated Press regular season poll champions were upset Saturday night in district championship action.

Wellsville, the Class AA poll winner, suffered its first loss this season, a 61-54 verdict to Millersburg West Holmes at Steubenville.

Meanwhile, Class A poll champion Mansfield St. Peter's took a 73-37 walloping from Greenwich South Central at Galion.

Unbeaten Canton McKinley, the mythical state champion in Class AAA, reached the regional stage by eliminating fifth-ranked Canton South, 57-51 at Canton.

Cincinnati Reds Win 2nd Straight Exhibition Game

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Mended returnees Dave Concepcion and Roger Nelson may have turned some spring training question marks into exclamation signs Sunday as the Cincinnati Reds stayed unbeaten.

"Just great! Just great!" raved pitching coach Larry Shepard after Nelson passed his first pitching test with flying colors.

The bushy-haired hurler tossed two innings of hitless relief in a 2-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Nelson, frustrated by elbow ailments last year, was equally jubilant.

"If I'm throwing as good when the season opens as I am now and I'm still No. 5, we'll win 120 games," said the bespectacled righthander.

At the moment, he's not being counted on as a starter in Manager George "Sparky" Anderson's four-man rotation. But the off-season surgery appears to have been a success and Nelson could figure in the pitching plans yet.

"He looks like the guy I've never seen," said Shepard. "The pitcher I've only heard about."

Meanwhile, Anderson had his eyes trained on shortstop, where Concepcion was making his spring debut. The slender Venezuelan had not played for the Reds since July 22 when he broke an ankle bone — just hours before he was to depart for his first All-Star game.

Concepcion singled in an insurance run in his first at-bat and handled several difficult fielding chances with ease.

"He hasn't lost anything," proclaimed Anderson.

Rookie outfielder Joel Youngblood provided the other excitement for the day as the Reds downed the Pirates for the second straight outing.

Youngblood slammed a Bob Moose pitch out of the park to open the sixth inning of the scoreless deadlock.

Dick Baney, one of four pitchers for the Reds, received the victory. Moose was charged with the loss. Baney allowed just one hit in three innings.

Don Gullett started, with Nelson, Baney and Pat Darcy completing the five-hit shutout.

A casualty of the exhibition outing was rookie outfielder Arturo DeFreites. He was struck by a Moose pitch and broke his arm in two places. He'll miss the rest of spring training.

The Reds go after their third triumph today against the Kansas City Royals.

PIONEER—Paul England, former Circleville High School athlete, is a member of the Marietta College varsity baseball team. Paul, a freshman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom England, 159 E. Union St.

Cougars Top Colonels

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There are a couple of good races going on in the American Basketball Association — at the top of the East Division and the bottom of the West.

The Carolina Cougars shaded the Kentucky Colonels 94-91 Sunday while the New York Nets routed the Virginia Squires 114-76. That left Kentucky just three percentage points ahead of New York in the East, with Carolina two games back.

In the West, the San Diego Conquistadors knocked off Denver — for the second night in a row — 114-99 and climbed within 1½ games of the fourth-place Rockets.

Elsewhere, the San Antonio Spurs shaded the Memphis Tams 99-94 and the Indiana Pacers clobbered the Utah Stars 126-103.

Canadiens Top Penguins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chuck Annason and Jean Pronovost scored two goals each for Pittsburgh Sunday night, and the Penguins took a club-record 57 shots on the Montreal Canadiens goal. They lost.

The Canadiens managed just five shots at Pittsburgh's Gary Iness in the first period, but scored on the first three. They won.

Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman explained why:

"The shots on goal were no indication of the way the game was played," Bowman said after the Canadiens' 5-4 triumph.

Penguins Coach Marc Boileau elaborated on the off-beat outcome of the off-beat game. "I thought we played excellent hockey. We just couldn't score enough."

In other National Hockey League games, the California Seals surprised the Boston Bruins 6-2; the Philadelphia Flyers topped the Buffalo Sabres 4-3; the Minnesota North Stars bombed the St. Louis Blues 8-1; the New York Rangers defeated the New York Islanders 4-2, and the Atlanta Flames blanked the Detroit Red Wings 4-0.

The reason the Penguins "couldn't score enough" was goaltender Wayne Thomas, who held off 21 of Pittsburgh's 23 shots in the first period, stopped 14 in the second and 18 in the third.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Be alert now. Scrutinize all projects before acting. Rule out doubt, fear of failure. You have the knowhow.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Generous planetary influences now stimulate your endeavors and your aspirations for future attainment. This is no time to rest on past laurels. Put forth best efforts.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): The time and opportunity are here! ACCOMPLISH! You will be happy later that you strived. Don't mind if progress is slow at first. It will gather momentum.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Adapting yourself to situations—even unusual ones—may enable you to benefit in a heart-warming way. Make decisions with the future in mind.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Benefic solar influences. Take the optimistic point of view. It will give a clearer picture of potentialities and an enthusiasm that translates into fertile ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): It need not be a striking point you make, nor a drastic move that completes the success picture. Maybe the simplest turn, touch, alteration will do it.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Shift to whatever method or tack will put you and your efforts in the best light. Astute action can make any sincere endeavor easier, register gains faster.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23):

22): If at first you don't succeed, keep right on trying. Alloy worries by astute thinking, concise action, laudable ambition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Aim to balance things off, to keep the scales even for harmony's and wisdom's sake. Some deceptive influences are prevalent now, so don't be careless.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take short-cuts if they do not cut down on essentials and the quality of your endeavors. Only small gains indicated, but do not belittle them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Do not wait for opportunities to materialize "out of the blue." Seek them out yourself. A period for exercising your innate imagination and ingenuity.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A generally good outlook. But tackle all "musts" before undertaking new activities—many of which promise to be unusually attractive.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely competent person, capable in emergencies and always reliable. In anything you undertake, you do a bang-up job, but don't let your meticulousness give you the reputation of being "fussy." Your versatility is almost boundless and, once you have found the right career for YOU, you can attain any heights to which you set yourself. Many prominent industrialists, educators, scientists, writers, poets and musicians have been Pisceans. Birthdate of: Gordon MacRae and Liza Minnelli, singers; Edward Albee, Amer. playwright.

American Mortgages Names New Officers

Walter C. Horton has been elected executive vice president of American Mortgages, Inc., an affiliate of Ross County National Bank.

Horton's election to the executive post was announced recently by Theodore R. Saker, president of American Mortgages, Inc., and chief executive officer of American Bancorporation. The Ross County National Bank is an affiliate of American Bancorporation, a Columbus-based bank holding company.

Also announced were the appointments of Thomas H. Hoover and David A. Taylor as vice presidents of the mortgage company.

American Mortgages, Inc. is a mortgage banking company. The firm arranges financing of commercial real estate projects and assists affiliate banks of American Bancorporation in arranging credit for their local customers.

According to Horton, funds available for mortgage lending will increase during 1974 from the very tight monetary situation of 1973. He also expects some decline in real estate rates by mid-year.

According to the report made by investigating officer, Sgt. N. B. Staten of the State Highway Patrol, the first auto was driven by Milton D. Keese, 39, Route 5, Chillicothe. Keese had stopped for a traffic signal when Ms. Leach, unable to stop, struck his vehicle in the rear.

While Daniels was gone from the room for a few minutes, the thief entered the room taking the money off the head of the bed.

Daniels estimated $80 was missing.

U.S. Exports High-Quality Beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exports of high-quality U.S. beef to Japan are rising substantially this year, perhaps four times 1973 shipments, the Agriculture Department said today. Such sales would represent less than one per cent of U.S. beef production, said a report published in "Foreign Agriculture."

The report was written by Roger S. Lowen, a livestock and meat specialist in the Foreign Agricultural Service.

It said Japan may import about 175,000 metric tons of beef this year, up from 126,000 in 1973 and only 57,609 tons in 1972.

Of the total, Japan is expected to buy about 40,000 tons from U.S. suppliers; 125,000 from Australia; and 10,000 from New Zealand. In 1973, U.S. beef exports to Japan were 11,000 tons. As recently as 1969, Japan bought only 97 tons of U.S. beef. "Exports of 50,000 or even 100,000 tons of quality table beef to Japan would represent less than one per cent of U.S. production and help to provide a long-range incentive to U.S. producers and feeders to increase output," Lowen said.

The report said Japanese consumers have a growing appetite for beef and by 1985 could be eating 20 pounds per capita annually, compared with 8.5 pounds now. American consumers ate 109 pounds of beef last year on a carcass weight equivalent.

"Potential for growth is enormous, since Japanese now eat much less beef than most other equally affluent nations," Lowen said. "However, short-term growth in consumption may be slowed by the impact of the petroleum situation on the Japanese economy."

Retail prices for U.S. beef in Japan are at least double those paid by American consumers, the report said. Round steak was listed at $4.05 per pound, chuck at $4.86 and strip loin at $5.68 per pound.

Frozen steaks from New Zealand, low-quality meat produced mainly from surplus dairy cattle fattened on grass, were listed at $2.11 per pound on the Japanese retail market.

"Japanese food shoppers have discovered that the topquality, highly marbled U.S. table beef closely resembles their coveted Kobe beef," Lowen said. "Surprisingly, only Japanese and U.S. consumers have a taste preference for highly marbled beef."

Pickaway 4-H Club Schedules Meeting

The Pickaway Swine and Dairy 4-H Club will meet 7 p.m. Tuesday at Pickaway Twp. School. It was announced by Neil Davis, adviser.

Most coaches, players and rooters are convinced that basketball is America's most popular sport, the National Geographic Society says.

KROGER GROUND MEATS!

You can depend on outstanding quality. What's our secret! ... It's simple ...

1. When the label reads "GROUND BEEF ROUND" you can be sure it's ground only from the round. Our aim with fresh ground round ... 14% fat for flavor.
2. When the label reads "GROUND BEEF CHUCK," you can be sure it's ground only from the chuck. Our aim with fresh ground chuck ... 18% fat for flavor.
3. Our "Extra Lean Ground Beef" is all beef from several different cuts, freshly ground. Our aim ... 22% fat for flavor.
4. Our "Ground Beef," too, is made only from beef ... nothing added. With ground beef, our aim is ... 28% fat for flavor.

We feel it is our duty to keep our customers informed on the quality and labeling of our ground meat products including the control of fat content in our modern refrigerated meat plant under the supervision of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Not all stores can make these claims so don't be fooled. Know exactly what you're buying. Shop Kroger and be sure.

Kroger ... the quality meat people.

Unit Pricing

Helps you get the quality you want... in the quantity you need... at a price you can afford!

The Unit Price is now shown on over 3,500 items on new Kroger shelf tags. You can compare the "price per lb."—"price per oz."—"price per qt."—or some other "unit price" on different sizes of the same brand—and on different sizes of different brands.

This program is designed to acquaint you with the advantages of Unit Pricing—to find out how you like it—and to show how Unit Pricing helps you shop more economically. For example, in the illustrations at right, you can see that the most economical buy is the 22-oz. XXX Liquid Detergent.

Look for Unit Pricing on canned foods, paper products, laundry and cleaning products, etc.
